Beyond The Counseling Room: Providing Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Care to Immigrant Communities (Part 1) By Dr. Ana G. Reyes

Being fully seen, heard, cared for, and felt by another sentient being can be a healing and corrective experience. But is it enough when one is experiencing ongoing oppression and deep cultural wounds? This experiential session will explore ways to heal cultural wounds through presence, attunement, and action. Participants will explore ways to practice cultural humility inside and outside the counseling room to counteract oppressive forces compassionately. Furthermore, participants will learn key strategies to provide culturally and linguistically responsive care to immigrant communities.

12:00pm – 1:15pm

Lunch Break

*A List of restaurants in the area will be provided to you.

1:15am – 4:00 pm

Beyond The Counseling Room: The Use of Interpretation Services and Language Justice when Providing Responsive Care to Immigrant Clients (Part 2) By Dr. Ana G. Reyes

Providing caring services to immigrant clients requires practitioners to learn how to use language justice as the base for the clinical work that occurs in the counseling room. In this part of the workshop, participants will learn about the principles of language justice as a tool to provide a transformative equitable relationship that empowers immigrant clients. The presenter will explore how communication can be used to bring both, racial and social justice into the counseling room. Furthermore, participants will learn key strategies on how to work with interpreters while attending to language justice principles to bridge the cultural and linguistic gap with immigrant families.

4:00pm – 4:30pm
